

TREADORS PLEASE TWO BIG CROWDS

Standing Room Only at the Quad Club Performances Given Here.

OFF TO KANSAS CITY TODAY

Success of Last Year Is Again Made by Musical Comedy Company.

The Quad Club "came back" with another musical comedy hit Friday night, and again last night, when it presented "The Land of the Treadors" to two standing-room-only audiences at the Columbia Theater. Remembering the success of last year's play, Columbia and University folk—as many of them as the theater could possibly hold—went, satisfied that they would be amused. And they were not disappointed.

Friday night at the initial production, the Treadors kept the crowded house laughing and applauding until nearly midnight. Every encore the company had planned in advance was used and still the admirers "out in front" insisted on others in the musical numbers. Perhaps no play given here by students has been more pretentious in scenery, costumes and range as this year's production of the club—and that pleased the big crowds, too.

A Play That Pleased.

There was praise for the music written by L. O. Muench; praise for the comedy, itself, written by J. A. Chenoweth and R. F. Lakenan, Jr.; praise for the soloists, the chorus and the pony ballet. A month's hard work of rehearsing brought reward in an attractive, smooth performance of a light, musical play that pleased.

A deserter from the United States Army by a prize-fight with the lightweight champion of Mexico, won for revolutionists the government of that country in the play. A New York newspaper man—at the University he is George L. Boyle—who helped promote the fight, was rewarded by the hand of the daughter of the Mexican general. All the officers of the United States Army married beautiful heiresses, and everybody was happy.

The plot deals with the recent Mexican Revolution. In three scenes of lively songs and choruses the various threads of the plot are combined. The curtain rises on the first scene, with the Senoritas, Chiquitas, and Caballeros all in the Mexican costume of red and black, the men wearing huge sombreros, while they sing the opening chorus. "In the Land of the Treadors."

The Many Songs.

A "Boarding School Chorus" of girls—Vera Holcomb, Elizabeth Phillips, Sarah Hale, Mildred Bell, Alice Sparks and Allene Beauchamp—in college caps and gowns, is followed by the duet, "Heroes," sung by Murphy and Burke, the two deserters, played by Mr. Chenoweth and Mr. Lakenan. Variations on the theme of why "I'd rather be a coward alive than be a hero dead" were given in response to the continued encores that followed this number.

"Sing Me That Love Song Again," sung by Miss Carmelita Anderson and George L. Boyle, and "As Long as the Band Plays Dixie," by Joseph E. Brown with a chorus of soldiers completed the first act.

The second scene at the Treadors' Rest was introduced by "The Idol," sung by Frank G. Schnaitman, the landlord of the inn and the undisputed lightweight champion of Mexico, accompanied by a chorus. His dancing drew much applause. "Stroll With Me Through Lovers' Lane" was sung by Miss Jessie Rathel and the chorus.

The "Raggy Roberts Rag" chorus, led by Murphy was followed by "I Want the World to Know I Love You" sung by Miss Josephine Hale, and J. E. Brown.

Flower Over the Footlights.

"Mexicana Anna" was sung by Miss Carmelita Anderson, with chorus. "Foolish, Fickle, Funny Mary Ann," a duet by Miss Rathel and Mr. Schnaitman "Lavender Lou" led by Mr. Lakenan with the "Lavender Chorus," and "Under Luna's Looney Light" sung by Miss Hale, with a chorus of Moon Girls were decided hits. The latter were accompanied by appropriately striking electrical effects. In the final the entire company joined in praises of the "Land of the Treadors." Many flowers were received across the footlights by the girls in the cast.

The characters in the order of their appearance were: General Navez, commander-in-chief of the Diaz forces, J. P. Glandon; Bob Morgan, and adventurer, and former newspaper man, George L. Boyle; Anna Navez, Miss Carmelita Anderson; Kitty Phillips, "Everybody's Pal" and Marjorie Phillips, "who craves a uniform," Miss Josephine Hale; Colonel Phillips, a wealthy Southern planter, Sanford Howard; the two deserters, Sergeant Murphy, "Of the great family of Murphy," and Kid Burke, ex-lightweight champion of the world, Albert Chenoweth and Robert Lakenan; Captain Adams of the U. S. Army, Joseph E. Brown; Sergeant Ross, W. G. Glorius; and Alonzo De Coma, undisputed lightweight champion of Mexico and landlord of the Treadors Rest, Frank O. Schnaitman.

The book and the lyrics were written by Mr. Chenoweth and Mr. Lakenan, and the music by L. O. Muench. The electrician was S. F. Merriam; stage carpenter, D. H. Sosey, and property man, W. H. Glorius. Faculty advisers were Prof. Prof. George Lefevre and Prof. Frank L. Martin.

Those in the chorus were: James Klein, William Phillips, John Stapel, Frank Youmans, Chester Fuller, Charles Lynn, Warren Viley, Denver Davison, W. L. Glorius, Earl Confer, Arthur Bristow, Paul Simmons.

Marita Hodgman, Anna Mary Mills, Olive Koken, Ramona Walters, Dorothy Lewis, Kathryn Gentry, Margaret Ross, Josephine Sutton, Mildred Mabry, Lucille Kehr, Frances Bennett, Margaret Corbin.

Ballet—Vera Holcomb, Elizabeth Phillips, Sarah Hale, Mildred Bell, Alice Sparks, Allene Beauchamp.

"Boarding School" Girls—Kathryn Gentry, Dorothy Lewis, Josephine Sutton, Margaret Ross, Frances Bennett, Ramona Walters, Margaret Corbin, Mildred Mabry, Lucille Kehr, Olive Koken, Anna Mary Mills, Marita Hodgman, Sara Hale, Mildred Bell, Alice Sparks, Allene Beauchamp, Vera Holcomb, Elizabeth Phillips.

U. S. Soldiers—C. B. Lynn, D. N. Davison, W. Viley, F. W. Youmans, A. S. Bristow, C. E. Fuller, J. C. Stapel, W. L. Phillips, E. Confer, P. Simmons, J. P. Klein, W. G. Glorius. The company will leave today for Kansas City where it will present the play Monday and Tuesday nights. The players will be accompanied by President Hill and Mrs. Hill and Professor and Mrs. Martin.

FIRST DEBATE THIS WEEK

Colorado Will Come Here Saturday for a Contest.

The first debate of the year will be held here next Saturday with the University of Colorado. D. C. McDonough and Arnold Just, students in the School of Law, will form the team. The question is, "Resolved: That the Recall Should Be Applied to the State Judiciary." Missouri has the affirmative side of the question.

Colorado recently defeated Kansas on the same question. Kansas had the affirmative side and lost the decision by a vote of 2 to 1.

The Missouri squad this year has only one man who was on the squad last year. McDonough is the old man but this is the first time he has represented the University.

BLONDS ARE SCARCE AT M. U. THIS YEAR

Search for May Queen Candidates Reveals Few Light Haired Girls.

FOUR SELECTED THUS FAR

Festivities Will Include May Pole and Presentation of "The Bluebird".

Rehearsals began Friday for "The Bluebird," the play to be given at the annual May Day stunt of University women. The cast is working hard now that the play may be ready by the middle of May. The exact date has not yet been set.

The crowning of the May Queen will take place, either at night just before the play or in the afternoon, on the campus. Four candidates for May Queen have been chosen by the Woman's Council from the senior and junior women of the University. Of these, only one is a blonde and the members of the Council say in making their selection they found a great scarcity of blondes among University women this year.

These names will be posted in a few days and will be voted on at a mass meeting of University women which will be held this week. At this meeting other candidates may be nominated from the floor. The May Queen will choose her own attendants. These are usually selected from the different classes and organizations that there may be a representative group of University women. The crowning of the queen will be followed by a May Pole dance. No arrangements have yet been made for this.

About 150 University women will take part in the play and a large orchestra will furnish music. The play will be given at night, out of doors, either on the lower campus or the golf links. Special scenery will be used and there will be scenic effects with lights. Large blue curtains especially designed for this play will shut off the stage. The costumes which will be symbolic of the characters will be made by the girls themselves. L. L. Hohman is directing the play and training the players.

"The Bluebird," an allegorical play by Maeterlinck, represents a little boy and girl, Mytyl and Tytyl, as setting out in search of the bluebird, which many believe represents happiness. These parts are taken by Miss Jessie Rathel and Miss Mildred Bell. The part of the fairy, Berylune at whose behest they start, is taken by Miss Margery Graham. The children travel in the different scenes through the Land of the Future, the Land of Memory, the Palace of Night, and visit the fairies and the graveyard.

Night is represented by Miss Adelaide Jesse, Light by Miss Jean Harris, Bread by Miss Ann Shaw, Sugar by Miss Marguerite McGowan, Fire by Miss Marguerite Wolfstein, Water by Miss Bob Lindsay, Milk by Miss Sylvia McGill, the dog by Miss Dorothy Self and the cat by Miss Josephine Sutton. There is a chorus of about 100 which consists of the twelve hours, perfumes of the night, will o' the wisps, fireflies and butterflies.

BAPTIST PLAN MEETINGS

Dinner Will Be Held Each Month in District.

A movement has been started in the Baptist church to have the members become better acquainted with each other. It is planned to have a monthly dinner at the Virginia Grill to which all the members are invited.

The church has also been divided into twelve districts. Each district is to have a luncheon at some of the member's home every few weeks. According to H. O. Severance, the idea of these "get-together meetings" is to show the members that their services toward the church are appreciated and not, primarily, the money that they give.

AN ADDRESS BY DR. MERIAM

Elementary Pupils Will Also Give Program at Assembly.

Dr. J. L. Meriam will talk at assembly Tuesday morning on present day problems in education. The address will be given the first half hour. The rest of the time will be devoted to songs, dramatized stories and folk dances by pupils in the University Elementary School.

FROST MONDAY MORNING?

Weather Bureau Says It Will Be Colder Then. The United States Weather Bureau predicts "unsettled, stormy weather with showers today; high southeast to west winds; cooler today and colder Monday morning with frosts."

BAUMHOEFFER TRIAL TUESDAY

Jury Panel for Murder Trial to Be Drawn Tomorrow.

The Baumhoeffler murder trial will be called in the Boone County Circuit Court Tuesday morning. A panel will be drawn and the jury probably selected Monday.

Jeff Mackir was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary for robbing Points & Tyson drugstore.

WESTMINSTER LOST

Tigers Won an "Old Fashioned Slugging Contest" Yesterday.

Followers of old-fashioned town baseball, who like to see the ball swatted out of sight, would have been satisfied with yesterday's game between Missouri and Westminster. Missouri won 4 to 2.

Nine hits were credited to Westminster and 5 to Missouri, but the records do not begin to show how heavily bats were swung. "Dutch" Helmreich, right fielder for Missouri, twice smashed the ball into the north bleachers for the two-base credit but in the seventh inning he sent the ball nearly to Rollins Gate and circled the bases. In the same inning Huston got a three-base hit. McKee, Westminster's little second baseman, twice knocked the ball high into the north bleachers. Baird, of Westminster, also got a two-base hit.

Francis Fisher, Westminster's third baseman, was spiked in the left temple by Helmreich as he reached for a low throw which the Missouri runner was trying to slide out. Three stitches were taken to close the wound. Fisher was unable to finish the game but was not seriously hurt.

Missouri scored one run in each the third and fifth innings and two in the seventh. Westminster scored one run in the seventh and one in the eighth innings. The Westminster score-keeper charged his team with 5 errors, while the Missouri score-keeper scored but two errors against the visitors. Missouri made 2 errors.

CENTRAL EASY FOR THE TIGERS

Score Was 10 to 2 and Coach Field Tried Many Players.

The Tigers defeated the Central College nine Friday afternoon on Rollins Field by a score of 10 to 2. The battery for Central was Smith, pitcher, and Clingenpeel, catcher; Angerer pitched for Missouri and T. Hall caught. Missouri made three scores in the fourth and another three in the eighth inning.

Angerer, though a little wild, pitched an effective game, allowing Central but four hits, while his team mates gathered a total of nine, five of which were made in the fourth inning. Four Central men walked, to the five Tigers passed by Smith; each pitcher hit a man with the ball.

Angerer was well on the way to equalling "Bill" Harper's stricken record of twenty-two men in nine innings, made last year; when at the end of the eighth he had fanned seventeen men. Five of these were struck out in the third inning, two of them getting to first on the third strike. Harper in the game with the Japs last year struck out eighteen men.

Coach Field shifted the line-up several times. Brainard was taken out in the fifth; Hall switched to short and Wheat put in at first base. Hornback was replaced by Huston at second in the same inning; in the sixth, Guy replaced Carter who started the game at third sack. Grey, who was robbed of a safe three bagger in the fourth, because of failure to touch first base, was pulled out in the seventh. Helm went in for him. Kent Catron was umpire.

The line-up of Central College was: Clingenpeel, catcher; Ralston, third base; Mead, center-field; Hughes, second base; Miller, left field; Briggs, right-field; Van Studiford, first base; Smith, pitcher; and Slagel, Short-stop.

The score by innings follows:—

Central 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1 2 4 7
Mo. 2 0 1 3 1 0 0 0 x 10 9 4

ORCHESTRA TO COME FOR THREE CONCERTS

Minneapolis Symphony Will Play Two Nights and One Afternoon.

IS ONE OF THE THREE BEST

Four Vocal Soloists Will Assist—Some Members are Widely Known.

An annual spring musical festival for Columbia by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra is the plan of Prof. Henry V. Stearns of Christian College, who has arranged to have the orchestra here this month for the first time. The orchestra will give three concerts in the Christian College auditorium. The first will be Wednesday night, April 17, and the others the following afternoon and night. Mr. Stearns says the college will arrange to bring this orchestra here every year as long as the people of the town support it enough to pay the expenses.

The orchestra has sixty-five members. The conductor is Emil Oberhoffer who has been with the organization since it was started nine years ago. Four vocal soloists are with the orchestra. They are: Joseph Schenke, tenor; Lucille Stevenson, soprano; Genevieve Wheat, contralto, and Horatio Connell, baritone.

Perhaps the most widely known members of the organization are Llewellyn, first trumpeter, and Gebhardt, trombone, both formerly with the Thomas Orchestra; Lamping, at one time the cellist for the Cologne Orchestra and Czerwonky formerly with the Boston Symphony Orchestra as violinist.

Wendell Heighton, the business manager of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, is a friend of Professor Stearns. He was here for the Missouri-Kansas football game last year and he and Mr. Stearns arranged at that time to bring the orchestra here this spring. The expenses of the three concerts here will be about $1,200.

The orchestra will come here from Kirksville, Mo., where it has given an annual concert the last four years. Columbia will be included in a spring tour of ten weeks including cities from Denver to Birmingham, Ala. Outside of the larger cities the orchestra goes only to college towns. The last month the organization has been playing in the East.

WAS BIRTHDAY OF JEFFERSON

Monument on University Was Decorated Yesterday.

The Thomas Jefferson monument which stands to the right of the entrance to the University auditorium was decorated yesterday, the 169th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson. Col. J. C. Dorsey, who died a few years ago always saw that due honors were paid to the memory of the great American statesman. Since Mr. Dorsey's death the daughters of the American Revolution have been decorating the monument.

The monument is the original one that was placed over the grave of Jefferson at Monticello. It has been the property of the University of Missouri since the early '80's. When first received here it was kept in the old Academic Hall. When that building burned in 1892 the tablet was cracked and damaged. However, it has been repaired and is now enclosed in a case and kept in the vault in the office of the secretary. The corners of the tablet are chipped and broken, the result of souvenir hunters in times gone by.

ELEVEN MEN ON $10,000 BOND

Points & Tyson, Up On Liquor Charge, Obtain Signatures.

Eleven men furnished bond for Points & Tyson, who were indicted by the grand jury on eight-two cases for the violation of the local option law. They are: George W. Harrell, J. H. Laughlin, Willis J. Palmer, Harry H. Broadhead, S. C. Hunt, Tilford H. Murry, John H. Hubbard, Fountain Rothwell, Alex Bradford, Jr., E. M. Watson, H. H. Banks.

All of the bondsmen went on each defendants' bond in each of the eighty-two cases.

Dean Charters Into Kansas.

Dean W. W. Charters of the School of Education was in Kansas City, Kas., yesterday to address the teachers of that city.
